I had a product in my walk in coolers to help prevent excessive moisture when Mike came to show me the RD fresh product. I was skeptical but agreed to evaluate the product. Even with the other product I still had quite a substantial mold problem in the cooler. Once the RD fresh product was installed I saw a substantial drop in the mold growth and activity. Also, the produce bag has extended the life of our produce 3 fold. Strawberries are very delicate, before RD fresh they would last an average of 3 days. After RD fresh the berries last a week and a half. I highly recommend utilizing this product in your coolers. The savings in produce alone will pay for the cost of the product. I am very happy with the RD Fresh units.
